showing the proper spirit in the reply that is now believed to be on the way to Washington to the United States note of Sunday, and that he does not take an inflexible stand that will offend the sensibilities of the American people, President Wilson, it was indicated in intelligent quarters today, is willing to take up with Carranza a plan of settlement of Would Sacrifice Political Enteror surface protection to American territory and people. In fact, this idea of a zone of thirty or forty miles below the American border in which troops of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United States may operate to prevent bandits reaching territory of the United Conditioned upon Carranza Carranza a plan of settlement of the present differences that may be effective.

The President, the Carranza people ow understand, will not consent to he withdrawal of troops of this counwilling to concede, it is said, that the presence of troops so far in the inof Mexico may be irritating, in pite of the conditions under which after first conveying regrets for the Carrisal affair, President Wilon will meet him half way and prose plans that may bring a successful ent. The basis for this settleent would, so far as the administration is concerned, be the withdrawal of United States soldiers to a peace zone running along the entire border be-tween the United States and Mexico, to a depth of something like forty to a depth of something like forty miles.

Will Meet Carranza Half Way.

The soldiers of the United States would patrol this zone, practically being in possession of it, keeping out all Mexicans except those upon legitimate errands or authorized by the Mexican government. This zone would remain in possession of the United States until the Carranza or some other government had fully restored order in Mexico, when it would again pass into the hands of the Mexicans.

The administration is of the opinion that public opinion all over the world that public opinion all over the worl would recognize this as fair and neces sary to the United States and as re moving the possibility of continued friction through the keeping at bay of bandits trying to overrun the Amer-ican side of the border.

Note May Be on Way.

Believing that there is now on the ray to Washington the answer of Gen. Carranza to the last note of the State Department demanding the release of coldiers of the United States in a Mexican prison and insisting that Carranza make clear his purposes toward this country. President Wilson today held his hand as to Mexico and went on with much general executive business demanding his attention. He saw many visitors during the day.

Brief Telegram From Rodgers.

Special Agent Rodgers at Mexico City, a brief telegram received at the State Department early today, said he expected to be handed today Carranza's Much Depends on Answer.

Should Carranza have failed to meet he demands the President, instead of ng to Philadelphia tomorrow, he will to to Congress and lay the Mexican situation before that body, with a re-quest for authority to proceed as he hinks best to protect the interests and onor of the United States. If the answer is favorable, as many today be-ieved it would be, the President will to to Philadelphia.

The President also has an engage-

The President also has an engagement to attend the annual banquet of the New York Press Club in that city Friday night, but the filling of that will also depend upon events.

The opinion was advanced today by a well informed man who has talked both with the President and Secretary Lansing that Carranza's delay in sending his answer to the note of last Sunday is due to the fact that he has been in communication with the Central and South American republics, seeking to line them up with Mexico in the pending difficulty, and informing them of his intentions that they may have opportunity to express their views and commit themselves to his policies, whatever they may be. The same man was of the opinion that Carranza will disavow the Carrizal "incident," but at the same time place the blame upon the American soldiers to a large extent. He is expected to indicate that Gen. Trevino went farther than had been expected, but that the aggravation to the Mexican troops was severe.

Disavowal Must Carry Release.

This disavowal would carry with it he release of the soldiers and go far toward mollifying the relations of the two countries. This man has also received the impression that in seeking to satisfy the United States Carranza will plainly propose that American troops now in Mexico be withdrawn farther toward the border and may intimate that he will be satisfied if the troops are kept within a certain zone just south of the border, thereby insuring protection to American territory and people.

Would Sacrifice Political Future.

The President is represented as so ceenly desirous of keeping peace with Mexico that he is willing, if necessary, to sacrifice his political future. He has an abhorrence of settling the difficulties with Mexico along lines that difficulties with Mexico along lines that might benefit himself. In a talk he had today with Senator Lewis of Il-linois, he told the Illinois senator that he sincerely hoped that whatever debates take place in Congress they would be along non-partisan lines. He especially hoped that his particular friends in Congress would elevate their remarks on this subject far above politics, seeking no credit for what the administration has sought to do in Mexico and making no attacks apon the opposing party speakers.

ico and making no attacks upon the opposing party speakers.

Members of the foreign affairs committee of the House were studying precedents today with a view to preparing for an expected fight over what action Congress should take on the Mexican situation. One resolution particularly favored in the informal discussion, and which may be presented to President Wilson for approval, would declare that a state of war exists; that the President's course with respect to Mexico is approved by Congress and authorize him to use the army, Nathe President's course with respect to Mexico is approved by Congress and authorize him to use the army, National Guard, Navy and Marine Corps and authorize him to call for volunteers. This resolution, while not put into final form, was talked over among House leaders today without any final conclusion.

Believe Carranza Will Evade .

Mr. Rodgers' message to the State Department, dated yesterday, said that it was believed that the Mexican authorities are investigating the Carrizal affair. His statement was interpreted here as indicating rather that the reply would support previous assertions that American troops were responsible than that a change of attitude was to be expected. Gen. Gomez. attitude was to be expected. Gen. Gomes, commanding the Mexican detachment at Carrizal, was killed in the fight. Lacking his knowledge of what was said at his conference with Capt. Boyd just before the firing begain, it was deemed improbable that the defacto officials would find saything in the reports of his subordinates justifying a change in views.

Report From Pershing Awaited.

A final report on the Carrizal fight demanding his attention. He saw many visitors during the day.

At the War Department there was no let up in activities. Officials high and low feverishly worked to the main end of getting armed men to the Mexican border and to forward supplies to these human fighting machines. The wires human fighting machines. The war Department conferring with one another. Nothing was taken for granted there.

Busy at War Department.

Across the street, in the executive offices, and in the State Department there was an easing up in the tension of the last few days, due to the belief that Carranza's answer is on the way.

There did not seem to be definite information anywhere as to what the Carranza answer will be, although there was an assumption that the Mexican leader cannot afford to longer keep the Americans in prison, and that his only wise course, if he really wants peace, is to set these men at liberty.

Elesio Arredondo, the Carranza ambassador designate, had received no word early this afternoon from his chief about the status of the diplomatic negotiations. Mr. Arredondo has informed fen. Carranza of the determined sentiment in the United States demanding the release of the American troopers.

Brief Telegram From Bodgers. here. Capt. Morey's report was received last night. As coming from the ican Labor Paper He Will Do Anything to Prevent Break.

John R. Silliman, consul at Saltillo, reply to the American note demanding the release of the soldiers.

The message, containing but two sentences, was the first word the department had heard from Mr. Rodgers since he reported the delivery of the United States note.

Two cabinet officers and others close break with the United States. Dr. Atl has been at Eagle Pass participating in his participating in his been at Eagle Pass participating in his participating in ceply to the American note demanding who now is at Eagle Pass, Tex., today States note.

Two cabinet officers and others close to the President, although they had not talked with him recently, expressed opinions that the Carranza answer would be here today and that it would most likely be favorable.

That no official of the government was certain as to what the answer will be, however, is shown clearly in the fagt that the President has suspended decision whether he will go to Philadelphia tomorrow to address the associated advertising men in annual convention there. The President intended to leave tomorrow morning and speak to the advertising men at a late hour today whether the executive council for the American Federation of Labor would be pleased to meet there with a delegation of organized workers of Mexico Saturday or before. Mr. Gompers' message was sent in reply to one saying Mexican workers wished to meet the executive council for the realisation of its "padiet program."

Appointment of National Chairman Willcox Signal for the Opening.

Progressives to Aid the Regular Re publicans in Framing Up and Conducting Campaign.

With the selection yesterday of William R. Willcox of New York as chair man of the republican national commit tee, following the previous naming by the democrats of Vance McCormick of Pennsylvania as their national chair man, the presidential campaign will soon be under way. Both chairmen will have headquarters in New York city, and there will be branch headquarters in Chicago.

The selection of Mr. Willcox was not surprise. He has long been a close friend of Candidate Hughes and ac mpanied Mr. Hughes when the latter left Washington to take up his residence in New York. Mr. Willcox was the first chairman of the public service the first chairman of the public service commission of New York under appintment of Gov. Hughes. President Roosevelt appointed him postmaster of New York city, and he served from 1905 to 1907. He is a friend of Col. Roosevelt, and his neighbor at Oyster Bay. It is assumed by republicans here that his appointment as national chairman will be satisfactory to the progressive republicans. Mr. Willcox is a lawyer, fifty-three years of age, and is well known to politicians in New York state.

Will Consult Freely.

It is understood here among republicans that Mr. Willcox will be in con stant touch with such republican lead ers as former Senator Murray Cran former Senator Hemenway of Indiana Senator Penrose, Senator Gallinger and Senator Smoot, and will be guided largely by the advice and support of the executive committee in the conduct of the campaign.

Also it is said that leaders formerly identified with the active management of the campaign.
